

SIDEBORD NOOM

Design by David Ericsson

A sideboard that can be personalized: different fabrics and different wood makes it suitable for the modern lifestyle and gives fresh impetus and inspiration.

It is designed with a sculptural quality without losing its functionality.

NOOM is made of wooden boards and with hidden hinges to make the doors almost float. The storage units can have textile or wood on their surface.

David did his first sketches for this project already a few years ago: Open and not opened, that is the main idea - to hide and to show. David Ericsson has made some other cabinets in the past, but has always wanted to design something bigger and more spacious.
